Description/Analysis

Issue: On certain occasions marking the end of honorable service or promotion with the City, police officers and firefighters often request authorization to purchase duty weapons, badges, and service dogs. However, the City Code in its present form does not allow for such sale or transfer. The recommended revision to the City Code will allow for the disposition of duty weapons and badges upon honorable retirement from City service or promotion to a higher rank, and the disposition of service dogs upon their removal, under certain conditions, from active service.

Policy Considerations: City Code Chapter 3.80 addresses the disposition of surplus personal property. The intent of Chapter 3.80 is to encourage public notice and participation when initiating a sale of City surplus property. Furthermore, the reference to surplus property is intended to describe such property that might have utility to the general public after it has exceeded its useful life. For public safety reasons, duty weapons, badges, and police canines should not be made available to the general public. Therefore, these particular items should not be included in the general description of surplus property nor should they be made available to the general public after their useful life. This clarification of terms and recommendation to amend the City Code will not affect the general intent of the current policy contained in Chapter 3.80.

Environmental Considerations:

California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA): This report concerns administrative activities that will not have a significant effect on the environment (CEQA Guidelines section 15061(b)(3)), and does not constitute a "project" as defined by CEQA Guidelines section 15378(b)(2).

Sustainability Considerations: None

Committee/Commission Action: On June 16, 2009, the proposed Ordinance adding Chapter 3.82 to the Sacramento City Code relating to disposition of weapons, badges and canines was presented to the Law and Legislation Committee.

Rationale for Recommendation: The proposed City Code amendment will specifically address the disposition of certain surplus personal property that should not be made available to the general public for public safety reasons. In addition, this amendment is in standing with the traditions and customs of the Police and Fire Departments and is reflective of an individual's distinctive service while serving as a City police officer or firefighter.

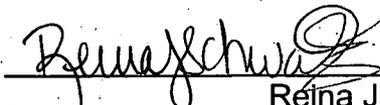

Financial Considerations: This report does not result in any significant financial impact to the City.

Emerging Small Business Development (ESBD): No goods or services are being purchased as a result of this report.
