To the Planning Commissioners of Sacramento:

I received an email this morning informing me that a cell phone tower is to be approved and installed at a small shopping center on Riverside Blvd. (across from Vic's Ice Creamery). I wish to state my objection to this installation. I fail to see the necessity that it be at that location, an attractive, mostly residential neighborhood. Such a tower would be unsightly (many cities and communities reject such installations for this reason alone), in addition to the other objections raised by the building tenants. My much revered and only daughter is a project manager with Bechtel Corp. who oversees the construction and installation of cell phone towers in Arizona. Despite my love and loyalty to her and support of her business success, my conscience tells me it is right to oppose this particular installation. If the site proposed was, say, at the Target on the corner of Riverside and Broadway, i would find that a much more appropriate location. I think this project should be seriously reconsidered before approval is given to build such a cell tower at this location.
